Janie McCloskey BSN, MSN
1996 Educator of the Year

Chosen by the 1996 School of Nursing graduates, Janie McCloskey has proven to be one of the College's most energetic nursing instructors. "Fun" seems to be Janie's method of transferring her vast nursing knowledge to her students. When asked to give reasons why Janie was selected Educator of the Year, students replied that she "makes lectures understandable ... teaches the 'why' not just 'how' ... is very helpful and caring ... has the perfect combination of humor and intelligence ... makes the student feel relaxed, competent, and cared for ... makes learning a great experience by using her sense of humor ... gives lectures that are both educational and enjoyable ... goes beyond the call of duty to make sure students succeed ... is an excellent nurse and student advocate."

The College realizes and appreciates the great gift it has in Janie and wishes her congratulations on being the 1996 Nursing Educator of the Year.
